

P11 Collaborating to Help the Student on Academic Probation

Do you wonder how other institutions help their students on academic probation? Have you tried several ideas and now have a successful process?

Or are you still struggling? This interactive preconference workshop will allow participants to discuss and share their concerns, struggles, trial and error, successes, and best practices related to working with students on academic probation.

After a brief presentation on the literature and available resources, this session will involve several collaborative activities and discussions on responses and issues such as academic resources, policy development, programming, and personnel training and availability.

Please bring your business cards and copies of probationary materials (contracts, class syllabi, etc.) to share. Please create a transparency of at least one probationary item from your institution to show to the group.
