3. Promote the role of effective academic advising in student success to college and university decision makers 4. Foster inclusive practices within the Association that respect the principle of equity and the diversity of advising professionals across the vast array of intersections of identity 5. Develop and sustain effective Association leadership	Establish a new recognition for advising professionals who are early in their career journey and do not have the breadth and depth of accomplishments that the "Big 5" awards recognize.	Assign a subcommittee; establish a timeline (2022 Awards Cycle or 2023 Awards Cycle); Determine criteria for nomination; determine criteria for selection;	During the exploration phase, I believe a survey of NACADA leaders may be appropriate in assessing the interest for such a recognition.	ACD, Individual ACs, ABs, and Committees.	The primary challenge here is time and energy to devote to this initiative as we emerge from the pandemic.	No progress. This had become a high priority project just before the pandemic started early in 2020. The work of the committee has focused on maintaining the current annual award program, creating a Virtual Award Ceremony, finalizing rubrics for all Excellence in Advising award reviewers. The committee is also moving forward with the renaming of the Leading Light Award to the Charlie Nutt Leading Light Award.	There is at least some interest in pursuing a new professional recognition on the level of the Big 5. If this initiative is to move forward, it will be at the discretion of the incoming chair, Jesse Poole. As the outgoing and immediate past chair, I will support this initiative if asked by Jesse.
