

NACADA: The Global Community for Academic Advising stands with our members and their students worldwide who are impacted by the attack in Ukraine. We believe in the power of individuals choosing their life path and firmly believe the same concept should apply equitably to all. As the premier global association on academic advising with a diverse membership spanning the globe, our values are aligned with the free expression of ideas and people's right to pursue free lives.