

Dr. Ken Harmon

Dr. Ken Harmon is a business professor, executive coach, motivational speaker, and consultant. He is a professor in the School of Accountancy at Kennesaw State University, where he previously served as Director of the School of Accountancy, Dean of the Coles College of Business, Provost, and interim president. His previous faculty or administrative appointments have been at Drexel University, University of Missouri, Arizona State University West, Middle Tennessee State University, University of North Carolina Wilmington, and Millsaps College. Dr. Harmon also has been an auditor with a large international CPA firm, was president of his own software company, and has served as a consultant and executive coach to numerous companies and universities domestically and internationally.

Much of his work, especially his executive coaching and speaking, is structured around the research on happiness and how we can use happiness to improve our everyday lives, be better leaders, and dramatically enhance the workplace. He has delivered more than 80 keynote and motivational talks in seven countries on the subjects of happiness, leadership, and culture.

Ken is active in his community and serves on numerous boards. He resides in the greater Atlanta area with his wife, Mary Harmon, and has three daughters: Ashley, Ava, and Norah. He enjoys riding motorcycles, writing music, playing guitar, saltwater fishing, flying, and playing golf.
