ANNUAL CONFERENCE 2021

NACADA's Commitment to Safety at the 2021 Annual Conference

We are excited for you to join us for the 2021 NACADA Annual Conference: Together, All Things are Possible! For those attending the in-person experience in Cincinnati, your health, well-being and safety remain our top priority. In light of COVID-19, NACADA is committed to ensuring a safe, healthy, and comfortable environment. Our conference venues are implementing the proper safety and sanitary measures. In order to gather safely, all in-person participants should adhere to the protocols below.

Before the Conference

- All participants are required to review the NACADA Coronavirus/COVID-19 Assumption of Risk and Waiver.
- Participants should not attend the conference if they are ill, experiencing a fever or any COVID-19 symptoms, or have recently been in close contact with someone who has tested positive or been diagnosed with COVID-19 within 14 days of the conference dates. (Sept. 22-25)

During the Conference

- Before or upon checking in for the conference, participants will be required to complete a conference check-in questionnaire and provide a current cell phone number that can be used for the sole purpose of contact tracing.
- Participants will be REQUIRED to wear masks regardless of vaccination status during all in-person conference activities. Masks and hand sanitizer will be provided at the conference registration desk.
- As a matter of respect, wristbands will be provided to identify participants' comfort level with social interaction. Red: greet from 6 feet when possible. Yellow: elbow bumps welcomed. Green: high-fives allowed.
- In lieu of printed programs, participants should download NACADA's mobile app or use the interactive schedule planner on their preferred device to build and track events.
- Hand sanitizing stations will be available throughout the conference venues.
- Convention Center and hotel staff will increase the cleaning frequency of high touch/high traffic areas and adhere to enhanced food safety measures.
- In the unlikely event you experience a fever or any COVID-19 symptoms, please stay in your room and contact a NACADA staff member immediately at (513) 601-8431 or (513) 601-8961. A licensed health professional will be onsite to answer any questions you may have. Participants are responsible for the cost of COVID-19 tests.
