Caesars Appian Way Shops

In a winding, centralized hallway between Numb Bar & Frozen Cocktails and Gordon Ramsay Pub & Grill, you'll find finest apparel, gifts, art and jewelry at Appian Way Shops at Caesars Palace. In between browsing, be sure to see the life-sized replica of Michelangelo's David.

Caesars Forum Shops

Known as "The Shopping Wonder of the World," The Forum Shops are a must-see, all-encompassing experience at Caesars Palace. Las Vegas' definitive luxury shopping destination, The Forum Shops include approximately 160 specialty stores and fine restaurants and attractions. Its lauded designer stores such as Louis Vuitton, Versace, Giorgio Armani, Valentino and Gucci represent some of the biggest names in fashion. The newly revamped Fall of Atlantis animatronic show, a giant 50,000 gallon aquarium and some of the Strip's most stunning architecture and design are wondrous elements to explore as you shop. Las Vegas Restaurants at The Forum Shops include Spago, The Palm, Carmine's NYC, Sushi Roku, and The Cheesecake Factory. The Forum Shops continues to grow, with store expansions and new openings every year.

Grand Bazaar Shops at Bally's Las Vegas

A 2-acre retail venue, the Grand Bazaar Shops has been dropped smack-dab in the center of Las Vegas Boulevard and spans 26,500 square feet of prime real estate on one of the busiest intersections in the world. It's also the only open-air mall on the Strip where all you window shoppers who are “just looking” can keep your wallets tucked safely away.

Grand Canal Shoppes at The Venetian | The Palazzo Details

From romantic gondola rides on one end to a colorful waterfall atrium and garden on the other, the Grand Canal Shoppes at The Venetian | The Palazzo offer more than your average mall trip. The 875,000-square-foot shopping mall connects the two luxurious Las Vegas Strip hotels with more than 160 signature stores and a dozen world-class restaurants. Shop the world's premier luxury brands including Diane von Furstenberg, Tory Burch, Jimmy Choo, Burberry, Michael Kors, Fendi, Christian Louboutin and Salvatore Ferragamo, as well as iconic brands such as Sephora, Swarovski and Coach.

Le Boulevard at Paris

Le Boulevard is très European. From the brass lamps to the cobblestone "streets" to the small, intimate boutiques, Paris is alive and well in Las Vegas. Make your way straight down the middle of the casino (or straight ahead if you parked in the parking garage) and you'll hit Le Boulevard, the shopper's main drag, where the majority of stores and restaurants reside (if only it were this easy in France). Les Mémoires offers intricately designed clocks, cute wedding figurines, bath products, frames and other bric-a-brac. Les Éléments features throw pillows and china.

Miracle Mile Shops at Planet Hollywood

Combining glamorous surroundings, 170 stores and 15 restaurants, the Miracle Mile Shops definitely stand out on the Las Vegas Strip. The Miracle Mile Shops features a snazzy, futuristic design. From an outdoor 6,000-square-foot LED sign with continuous streaming images to an outdoor sound system, the mall definitely sparks up the Strip. If you want to take a break from walking, hop on one of the machine-operated people movers, which directly lead up to the mall's north entrance.

Via Bellagio

The shopping selection within Via Bellagio is luxury at its finest: To call it expensive would be an understatement. You could easily spend a year's salary here in less than an hour, no matter what you make. But if you're looking for high-end shopping -- or fantasize about all the items you'd like to buy -- then this is the place.

Fashion Show Mall

The 2-million-square-foot Fashion Show mall is like several fashion runway platforms grouped together -- and you're the star shopper. Believe us when we say it's just that massive. If the number of shops overwhelm you and you're not sure where to start, not to worry: One of the mall's unique features is the Great Hall's , a multimillion-dollar event area featuring an 80-foot retractable runway. Every weekend, catch models strutting down the catwalk donning clothes you can actually buy that day. Think of this as a live fashion look book.

Town Square

Whether you're planning a shopping spree, a day out with the kids, a movie, a dinner date or a wild night out, Town Square fits the bill. Where else can you find popular stores like Apple, H&M, Juicy Couture, Sephora, MAC and EXPRESS, unique girly boutiques like Patty's Closet and Francesca's Collections, a movie theater, park, and a slew of restaurants all in one place? The 1.5-million-square-foot outdoor shopping mecca feels like an ancient city with its stunning architecture and cobblestone walkways. In fact, architects and designers traveled across the world for inspiration. But the energy is far from old-school.
